

Eating and Pooping

- Your teeth break food into small pieces when you chew.
- In your stomach the food pieces are dissolved into a liquid.
- The small intestine takes nutrients from the liquid.
- These nutrients are then stored in the liver.
- The large intestine takes water from the liquid. What is left comes out as poo.

